Bo's Make-a-Word Puzzle

Beauregard the janitor has been thinking really hard. He's come up with over 50 words that can be made out of the letters in his name. Can you beat him?

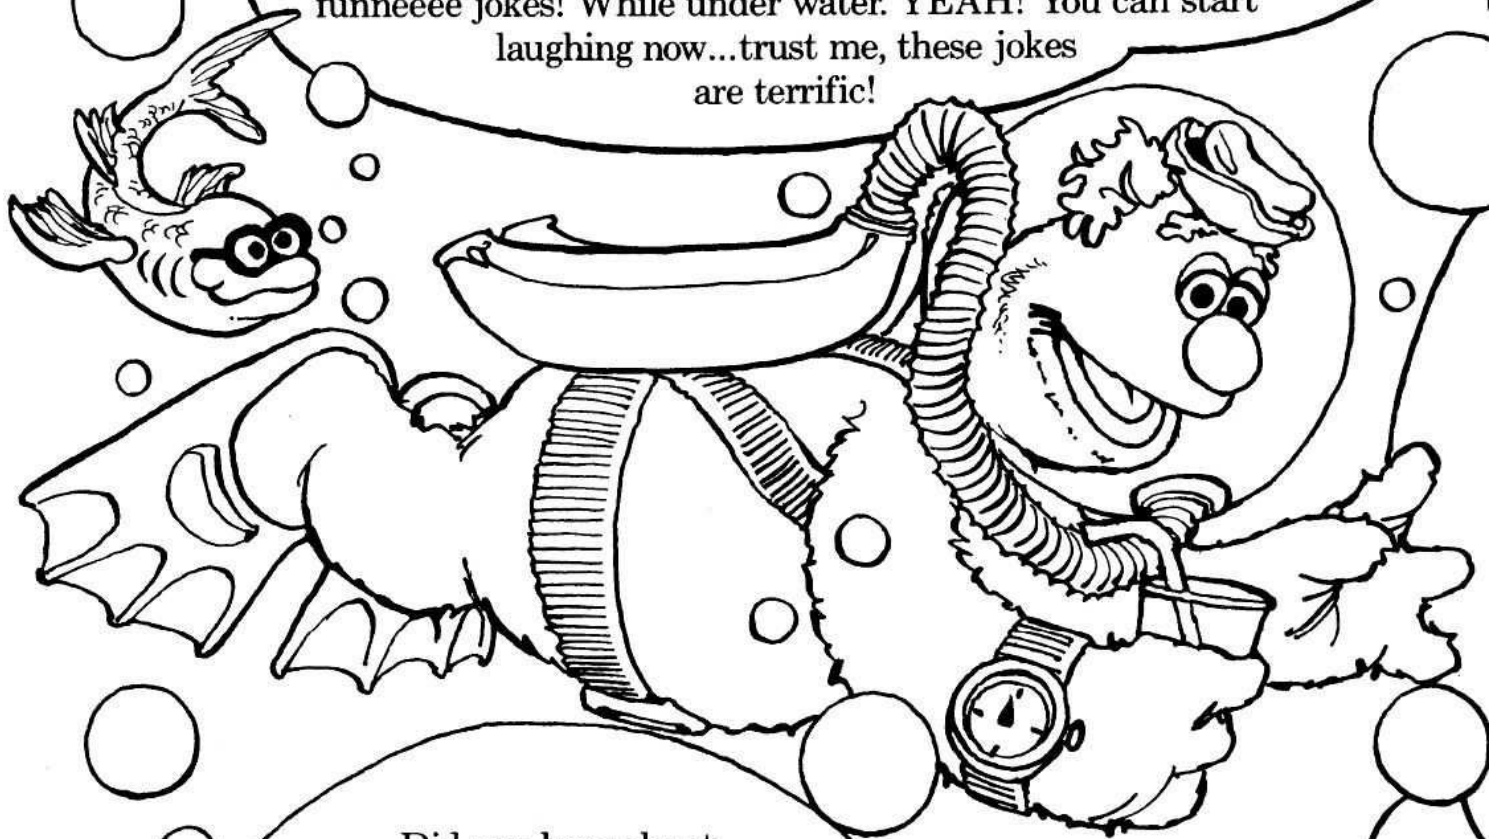

BEAUREGARD

Please laugh.

The bear is hot!

It's your favorite furry comic, here to tell you some of my funneeee jokes! While under water. YEAH! You can start laughing now...trust me, these jokes are terrific!

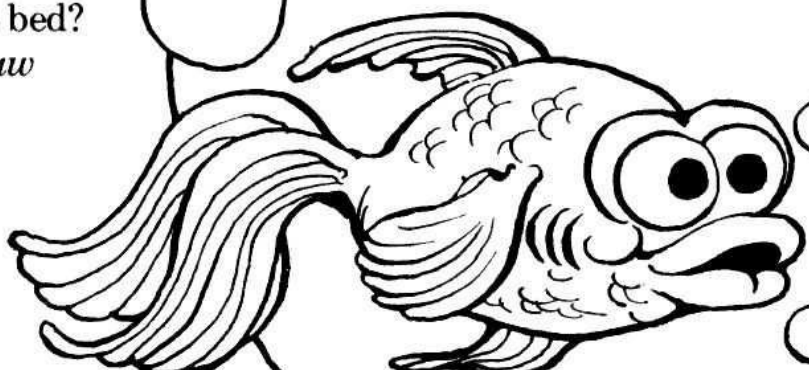

Did you hear about
the man who couldn't tell putty from butter?
All his windows fell out!

Wocka, wocka! That's funnee!

Or what about the optician who just acquired an empty lot for his new clinic?
He said the land had long been consid
a site for sore eyes!

Aaaaaaaahaaaaa! I love that one!

What about the man
who took a pencil to bed?
He wanted to draw
the curtains!

Do you know what
they call a little joke?
A mini ha-ha!

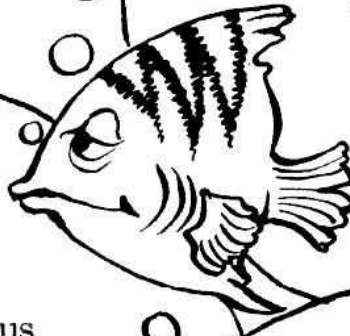

Did you hear about the
hot-air-balloon maker who said,
"I'm just managing to keep up with inflation"?

The other day a man asked me,
"Would you rather a rhinoceros attacked you or a gorilla?"
So I said, "I'd rather the rhinoceros attacked the gorilla!"

Then another man came
to my door selling beehives,
so I told him to buzz off!

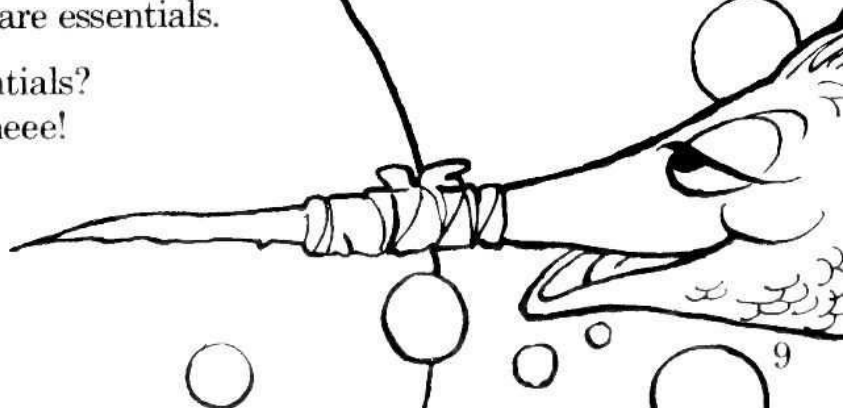

Hey, this is my
"A" material!

Hey, I just saved 25¢
by running home behind a bus.
Then I realized
I could have saved $1.50
by running home behind a taxi!

Did you hear about
the guy who made blotting paper?
He couldn't retire—
he found his job too absorbing!
Wocka, wocka!

Not too long ago
I went on vacation. I didn't have much luggage. You know why?
Because I only took the bare essentials.
Get it? Bear essentials?
Oh, I am so funneee!

You've seen one, you've seen 'em all.

That's what you think!
These chickens may look the same,
but they're not.
Circle the two chickens that are different.

DOCTOR-DOCTOR

Doctor, Doctor...

My little boy has swallowed
my pen, what shall I do?
Use a pencil till I get there.

Doctor, Doctor...

I feel like a pack of cards.
Sit down and I'll deal with you later.

Doctor, Doctor...

I keep stealing things.
Have you taken anything
for it?

Doctor, Doctor...

I feel like a dog.
Why don't you sit down
and tell me about it?
I can't—I'm not allowed
on the furniture.

Doctor, Doctor...

I keep thinking that
I'm a goat.
Have you had this feeling long?
Ever since I was a kid.

Doctor, Doctor...

Everyone thinks I'm a liar.
Oh, come now. I don't believe that.

Doctor, Doctor...

Come quick, my husband's broken his leg.
But, madame, I'm a Doctor of Music.
That's okay, it was the piano that fell on him.

Doctor, Doctor...

I keep losing my memory.

FOCUS ON

BEAUREGARD

It wasn't easy to find out the few things we know about Beauregard, because Beauregard has forgotten almost everything about his own life. In fact, he's even forgotten his first name. Beauregard is his last name. He calls himself Bo because it's easier to remember and it's pretty easy to spell. Bo is the only word Bo knows how to write, and he can't read anything at all, except, of course, for Bo.

It's not Bo's fault he has a bad memory. He was born with it, or rather, without it. Both of his parents are capable of forgetting anything. Bo himself doesn't even remember he has parents.

Bo, who was very strong, went to work at the age of three. "I was real strengthy," he says. "Good thing, too, because those trees were heavy." Careful research revealed that Bo was talking about the trees he cut down, pulled up a hill, and piled onto the truck when he worked as a lumberjack. Bo might have been three, but he looked like he was eighteen, so none of the other lumberjacks knew the difference.

Years passed. Then one day Bo got on a bus. He wanted to go home, but he couldn't remember where it was.

So he rode the bus to the end of the line and found himself in a large city. He wandered the streets for days. He figured he wouldn't be able to get a job because there weren't many trees to cut down. But one afternoon, as he plodded past the door of a little rundown theater, his luck changed. He heard someone say, "You'd have to be dumb to want that job." Bo walked in the door and said, "I'll take it."

Kermit the Frog told him all about the job. In one week he learned how to move scenery, but sweeping took a little longer. Still, he was the very best Kermit could find for the money.

Nowadays, after each Muppet Show ends, Bo cleans the theater and locks up. Then he goes home to his burrow, where he lives all by himself. The burrow has two rooms—a main room and a garden room. When Bo gets home, he pulls carrots, potatoes, turnips, and occasionally an onion down from the ceiling of the garden room for his supper.

Bo lives a happy and healthy life. The only thing that really wears him out is thinking. Though Bo can easily lift a truck, if you ask him how old he is, he braces himself, scowls, grunts, sweats, and then tells you he doesn't know. But he never stops trying.

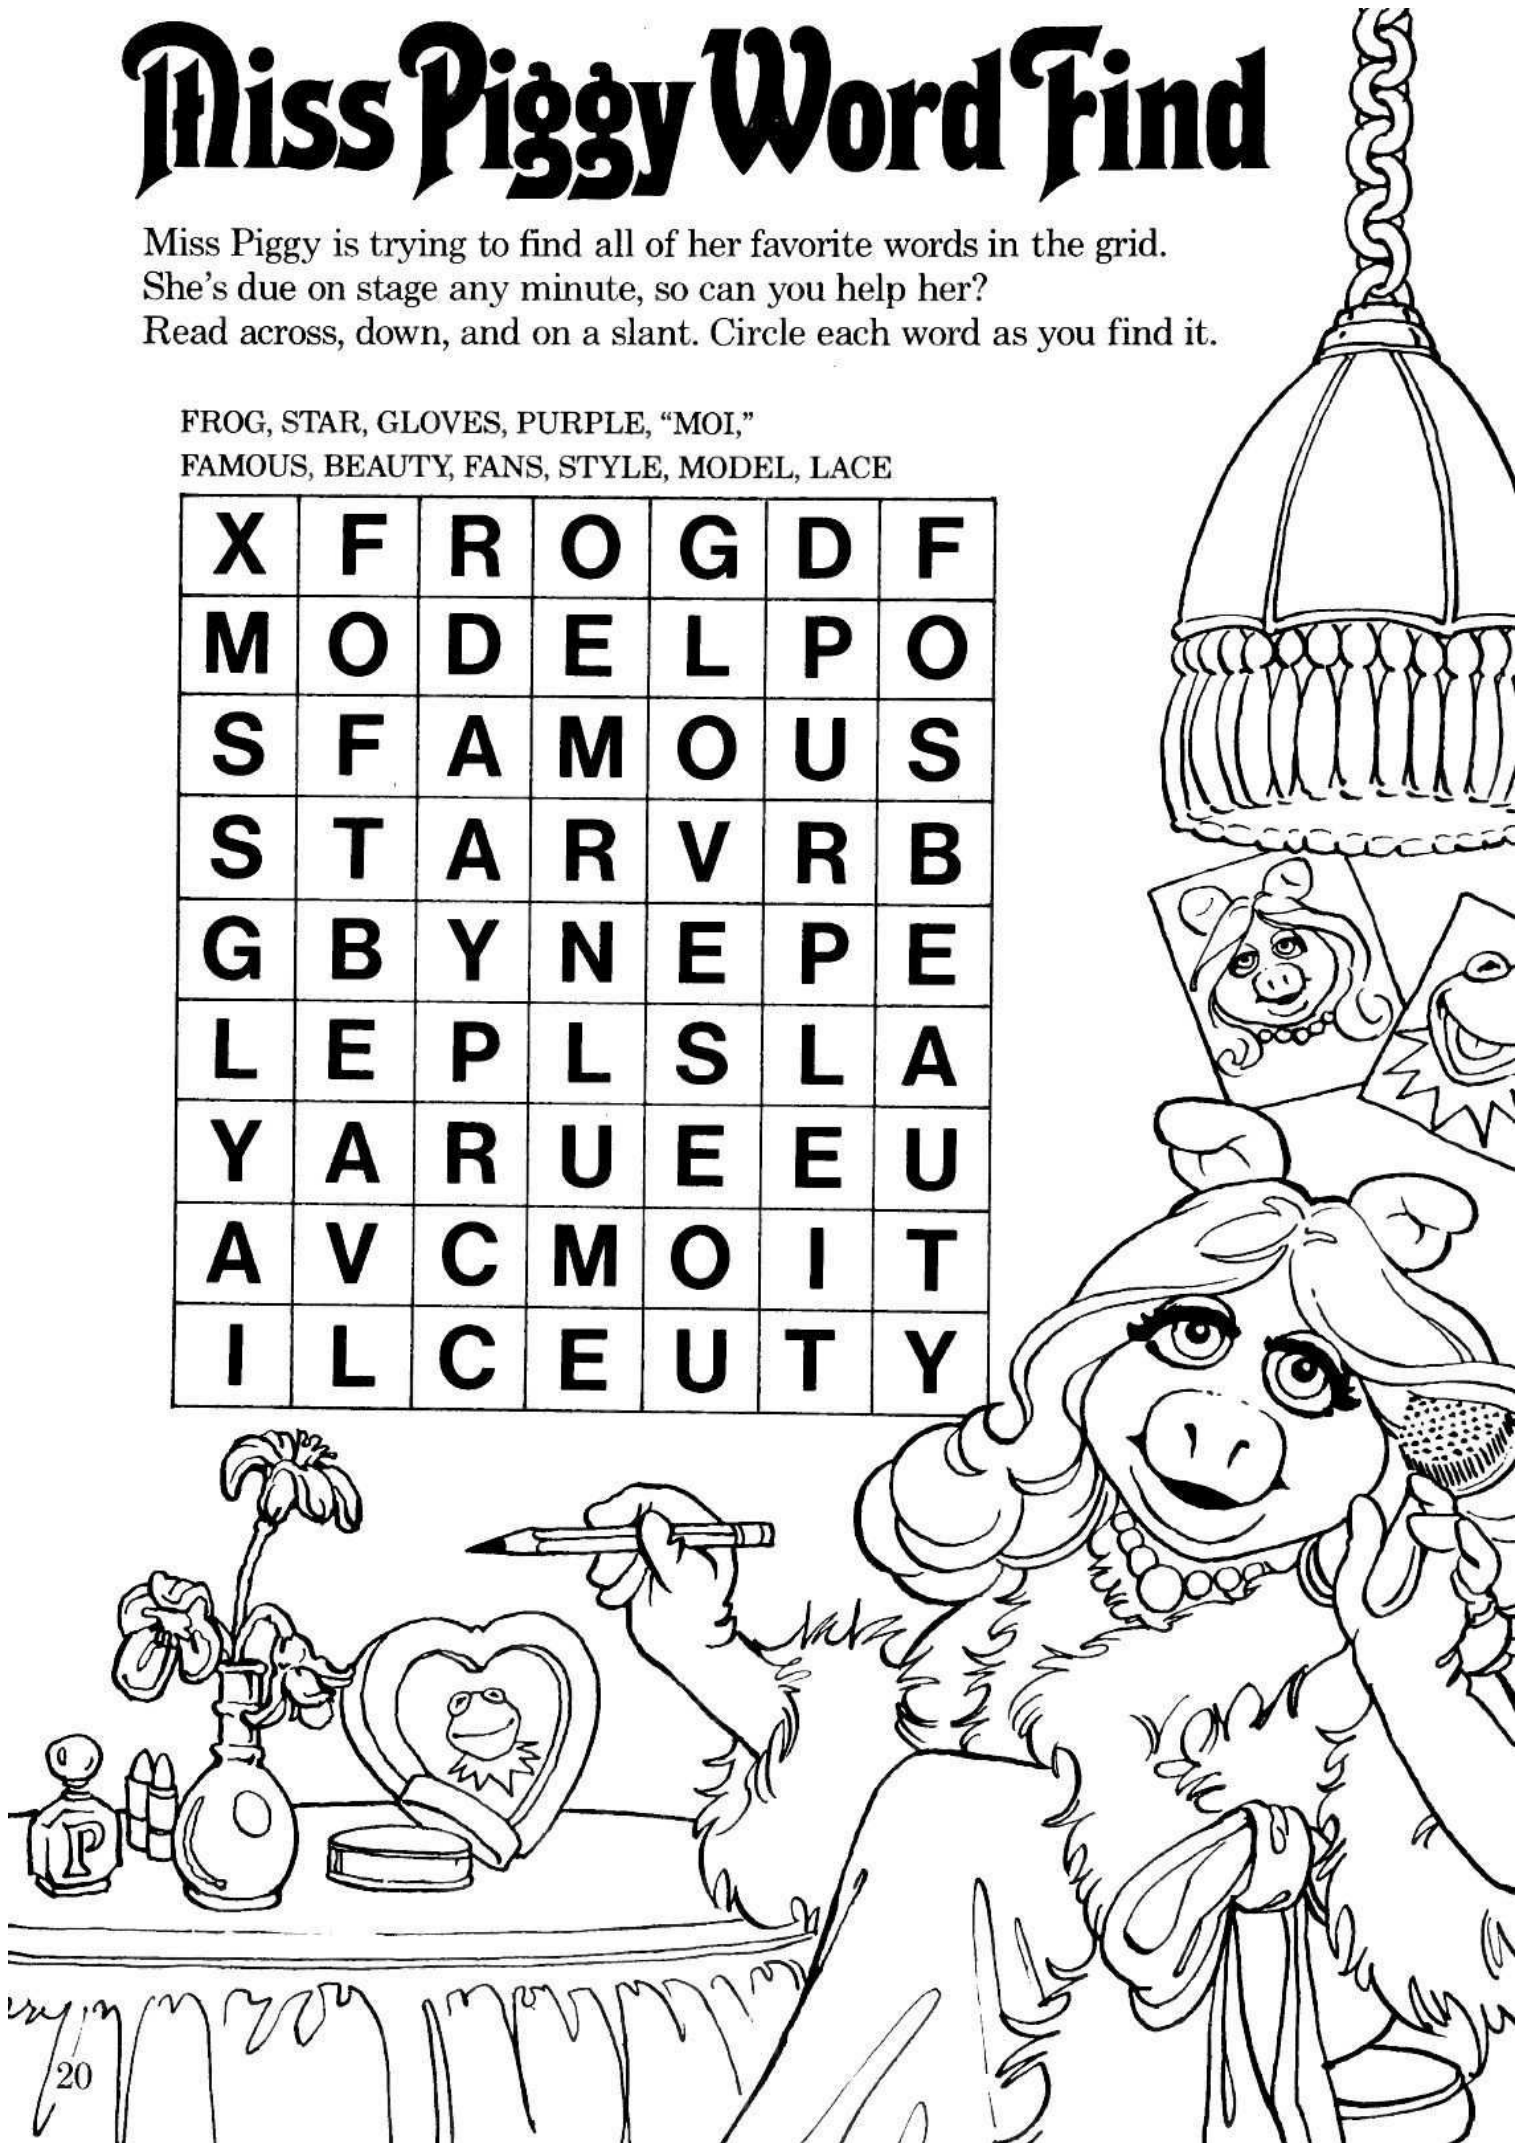

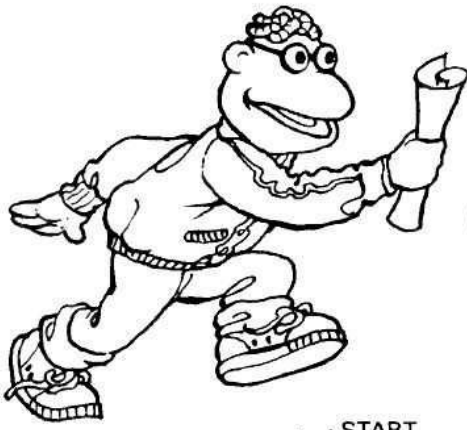

Miss Piggy Word Find

WHERE'S KERMIT?

(A game you can play by yourself or with your friends)

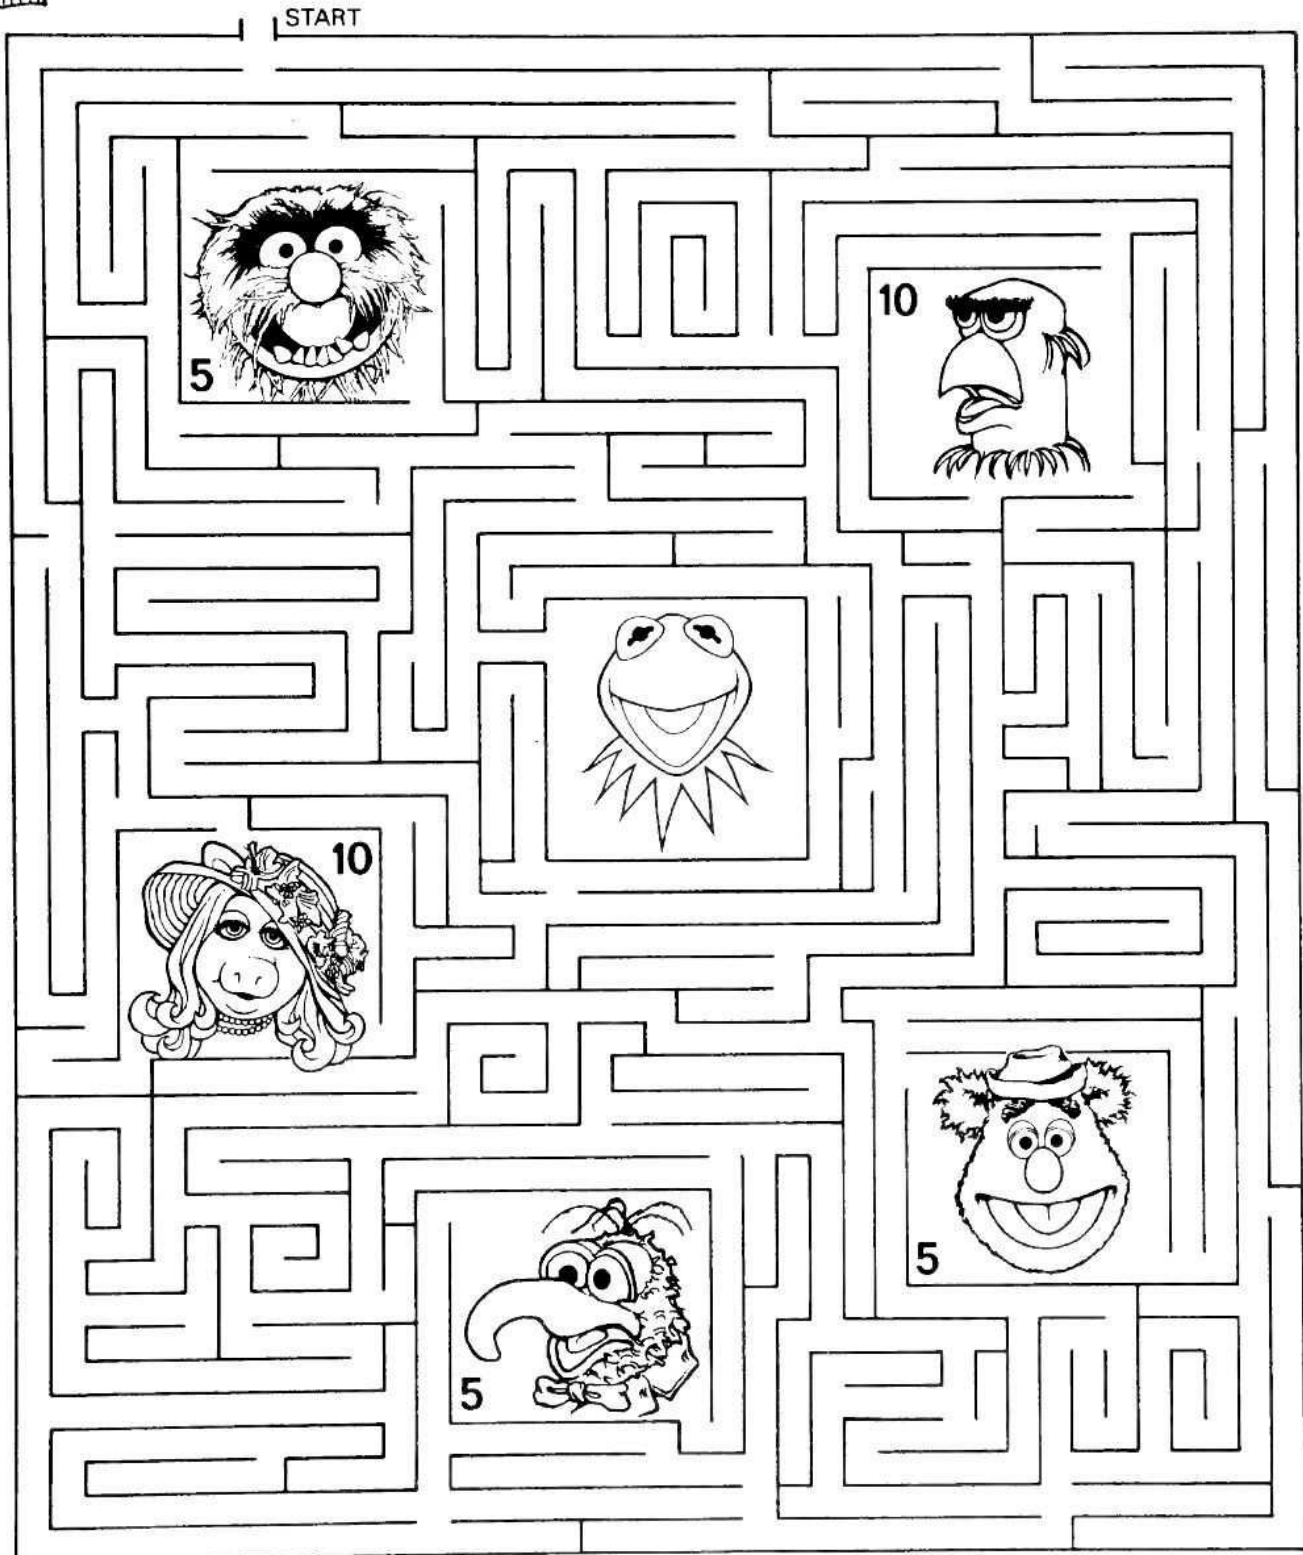

Scooter has an urgent message for his boss, Kermit. But Kermit is stuck in the middle of a maze! Help Scooter get to Kermit.

But don't run into Miss Piggy, Gonzo, Animal, Sam, or Fozzie.

If you do, you get a penalty score, and that's not good.

The person who reaches Kermit with the LOWEST score wins.

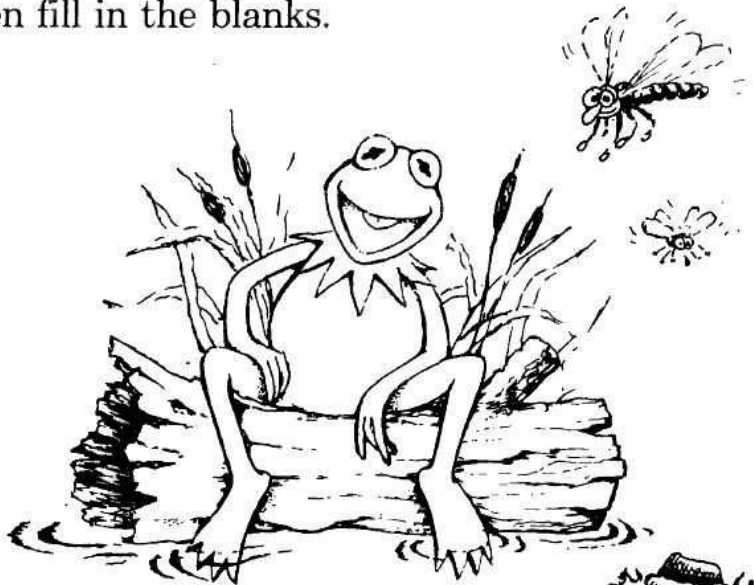

So put your pencil on START, and good luck!
